

Andrew Penny

1964 to 1970

Andrew Penny has been the musical director of the Hull Philharmonic Orchestra since 1982 and works as head of instrumental and vocal teaching at Hymers College, Hull.

He entered the Royal Manchester College of Music in 1971 and was the first holder of the Rothschild Scholarship in Conducting at the Royal Northern College of Music. He later went on to receive the Ricordi prize.

Since 1992, he has made more than 50 recordings, mainly of British music and including the symphonies of Sir Malcolm Arnold. His recordings of Arnold's work were chosen as BBC Music Magazine's top recommendation in 2001.
